9 NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
10 SAN JOSE DIVISION

11 GOOGLE INC., a Delaware corporation,
12 Plaintiff,
13 v.
14 AFFINITY ENGINES, INC., a Delaware
15 corporation,
16 Defendant.

Case No. C 05-0598 JW (HRL)

AFFINITY ENGINES, INC.'S
OBJECTIONS TO GOOGLE INC.'S
LETTER REQUEST FOR CONSIDERATION OF SURREPLY

Date: May 9, 2005
Time: 9:00 a.m.
Judge: Honorable James Ware

17
18 The Plaintiff's letter requesting that the Court consider a surreply regarding 19 Affinity Engines, Inc.'s Motion to Dismiss and/or Stay Proceedings, previously scheduled for 20 hearing on May 9, 2005, is procedurally improper and should be denied.

21 Specifically, Google violated the local rules when filing its letter request for a
22 surreply. Civil L.R. 7-3(d) provides that "once a reply is filed, no additional memoranda, papers
23 or letters shall be filed without prior Court approval." (emphasis added). Instead of properly
24 attempting to seek court approval for the filing of an additional brief, Google belatedly purported
25 to attempt to file a surreply along with its letter to the Court.

26 Google's only mechanism for requesting court approval to file additional papers is
27 to move for administrative relief, as provided in Civil L.R. 7-11. Google failed to properly move
28 the Court to consider its surreply. Accordingly, its letter request should be denied.

1                   The Court, by taking the motion off of calendar, has indicated to the parties that it
2 already possessed all necessary information to properly adjudicate this matter. Given that AEI
3 filed its reply brief on April 25, 2005, Google had over a week to properly move for permission to
4 file a surreply before receiving notice that the scheduled hearing was taken off calendar. Google
5 is not only attempting to improperly get the last word – in violation of the local rules – but is
6 wasting the Court’s resources, and AEI’s resources, by executing this last-minute maneuver. For 7 all of these reasons, AEI respectfully submits that Google’s surreply should not be considered by 8 the Court.

10                   Respectfully submitted,
